CONVICTED OF MURDER.

George Johnson, Col., Found Guilty and Given a Life Sentence.

MORE INDICTMENTS.

Courtney Case Given to Jury Tuesday, But No Verdict Yet.

The case of the commonwealth against George Johnson, charged with the murder of Carrie Johnson, his divorced wife, a few miles west of the city one night last June, was taken up Tuesday afternoon and the following jury selected: Wm. Cravens, C. T. Cannon, Tom Winfree, Wm. Sadler, Watt Dollins, T. J. Moseley, T. B. Caldwell, G. W. Bowles, J. H. Eggleton, N. O. King, C. W. Jones and S. G. Hord.

Carrie Johnson was assassinated about 1 o'clock in the morning and when the woman was reached she was lying on the ground with a hole in her head just behind the ear. She was shot from a window on the porch. She was about 32 years old and had lived as a domestic on the farm of Judge Joe McCarroll for several years. The coroner held an inquest and the verdict of the jury implicated George Johnson, her former husband, who was arrested shortly afterward. Late yesterday afternoon the jury returned a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment at life imprisonment.

The grand jury on Tuesday returned seven more indictments, all against negroes. A bill was found against Gen. Duffy, charging murder. It is alleged that Duffy struck Dave Cowherd on the head with a bed slat one day last fall and Cowherd died in about ten days. The trouble occurred on Ninth street, between Main and Virginia. Another indictment charges Charles Burris with having murdered his wife, Carrie Burris. A bill was also found against Burris, charging him with maliciously shooting Alf Moore. Ed Pendleton is charged with house breaking; George Taylor breaking open dwelling; Jude Brame, unlawfully detaining a woman, and Willie Johnson, malicious shooting. All of the above cases are set down for trial next week.

The Courtney case went to the jury at noon Tuesday, but up to the hour of going to press yesterday afternoon, no verdict had been returned.

FINAL STAB

Given Libel Bill By Enemies of the Press.

Frankfort, Ky., March 6.—By vote of 49 to 43 the House at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon refused to grant reconsideration of the Stewart Libel Bill, 204, which was defeated Saturday afternoon last by one vote. Mr. Gooch, of Simpson, and Mr. Dawson, of Logan, led the fight on the bill, showing much personal feeling.

Byland and Griffith changed their votes for the bill and Hannah, McCarty, Mueller, H. L. Stevens and Yader voted for it who did not vote Saturday.

New opponents of the bill mustered were Frazier, who changed and Mulcahy and G. S. Wilson (who did not vote) and Clay, Cochran, Cox, Freeman, Jones, Slaton, Thompson and Wicker.

Southall continued to bitterly oppose anything the newspaper men wanted.

Age of Shysters.

The failure of the House to pass the Stewart Libel Bill shows there are a good many shysters in the lower branch of the Kentucky Legislature. The bill contained no feature any honest, fair minded man could object to, and should have been passed unanimously.—Glasgow Times.

ASYLUM BILL PASSED.

Puts All Asylums Under Control of One Central Board.

GOVERNOR NAMES THEM

One of the Worst Measures That Has Been Enacted.

Frankfort, Ky., March 7.—Mr. Redwine, of the Rules Committee, yesterday called for consideration the Senate Bill 162, proposing to put the charitable institutions of the State under a Central State Board of Control, composed of three members at annual salary of $2,500 each.

Mr. Klair offered an amendment to reduce the salary from $2,500 to $1,500.

Mr. Redwine made a speech for the bill, claiming that it will save the State a great deal of money, and better manage the four State asylums.

Mr. Southall, of Hopkinsville, spoke vigorously against the bill, charging that it will increase expenses of control, rather than reduce them.

Mr. Young, of Rowan, followed with a speech for the bill. He said that the opposition of the Representatives from Hopkinsville and Lexington grows out of the fact that the local Boards of Commissioners spend the State's money freely in business houses of those cities. He charged the present management with being extravagant.

The bill was passed by a vote of 67 to 17, without amendment.

BUSY DAY

For Judge Brasher, As Result of Good Police Work.

Judge Brasher had a busy day Monday, as a result of the good work of the police Saturday night and Sunday.

Six negroes caught under a charge of gaming, by Lieut. Morris Saturday night, were arraigned and four of them fined $22.50 each. They were Charles Lewis, Tobe Boyd, Charley Page and Gus Holland. The other two, Anderson Waller and Fred Boales, were released.

One man was also caught on a charge of selling liquor on Sunday and fined $51 on a plea of guilty. Six drunks at $6 each brought the total fines up to $177.

LIBEL BILL

Passed The Senate Monday After Hot Fight.

Frankfort, Ky., March 6.—Saddled with amendments, the Libel Code Bill passed the Senate yesterday, after being bitterly opposed by Senator Wheeler Campbell, of Paducah. Although the bill is considerably changed, Representative Stewart, who introduced it into the House, says it affords relief, and altogether he is pleased with it.

The fight for the Libel Code Bill came up in the Senate when the amendment to the code was called out for passage. The code amendment provided that suits for libel should be brought at the place of printing or publication, or at the residence of the aggrieved person.
